

Dr. Floyd

dr. floyd
I'm feeling like a droid because my voice
is like a playback
of somebody's choice
this constant layback seems to have destroyed the little boy inside me crazy world

they can't let the people take it on their own they cannot afford to ever loose control cause there is a chance that you will choose to grow and take away their throne yeah it's a crazy world

dr. floyd
you make me paranoid ain't there a way to cut these thrings and gain back full control don't tell me you don't know erase the sold that's written on my frontlobe hold your cries

every big empire's had it's watching eye making sure things go right and no rolling dice brings the unexpected things that geopardize peace and order aren't you happy you're alive peace and order

tell me what's the point in being alive
to fight for or to find close your eyes, you're getting tired no one's selling, no one's buying in my words you'll drown your moans a fingersnap and I'm your owner ain't it pretty how my witty luring speech can break rebellions close your eyes and fall asleep now you've been digging way too deep we are children of the night we wear shades against the light we wear headphones playing voices whispering everything's alright
